

BIOGRAPHY

Frank King

Senior Vice President of Marketing, Sales and Customer Support

Mr. King is responsible for all marketing and sales programs for AVX Aircraft Company. Additionally he oversees all Customer Support activities and functions for AVX.

Mr. King joined AVX Aircraft Company in 2009 bringing over 35 years of experience in the helicopter industry with him. Mr. King was responsible for the expansion of many sales programs and territories while he was with Bell Helicopter.

A Texas native, Mr. King was born on Houston, Texas but grew up while living aboard with his parents in Venezuela and Colombia South America. He is fluent in Spanish.

After graduating from college Mr. King entered the U.S. Air Force and flew as a Command Pilot in B-52s in Strategic Air Command. He flew more than 25 combat missions over Viet Nam.

After leaving the Air Force Mr. King joined Bell Helicopter in the then new International Marketing Division. While at Bell he was involved with the Iranian 214 program and developed the marketing network for all of Latin America.

Prior to his retirement, Mr. King was the Senior Executive Director for Homeland Security for Bell. In that position he developed the marketing and sales strategy for law enforcement, military agencies and the State Department.

After leaving Bell Mr. King volunteered and tutored children with learning disabilities. In the evenings he taught English to his students' parents.

Mr. King earned his undergraduate degree in Economics from Trinity College, Hartford, Conn. in 1962 and his MBA from Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, Texas in 1974.